

The Benefits of Remanufactured Ink and Toner Cartridges instead of OEM Printer Products

Printer owners can find many superb reasons to buy remanufactured ink products rather than costly ink and toner cartridges from original equipment manufacturers. Although OEMs like to promote myths about poor quality and warranty problems, remanufactured toner is reliable, safe and affordable. At the same time, it's not hard to see why economical pricing is the greatest advantage of these units.

Expense

Prices for remanufactured or otherwise compatible ink cartridges are dramatically lower than those of OEM products. When you order them online from a company like My Choice Ink, you may cut the cost by up to two-thirds. You will probably save at least 35 percent with no need to purchase the supplies in bulk.

Compatibility

You can find compatible ink cartridges for a wide range of printer brands and models. Remanufactured ink and toner products are available for Canon, Hewlett-Packard, Epson, Dell, Lexmark and various other printers. If you select the right cartridge for a specific model, it will work just as well as the original.

Warranties

Although many people believe otherwise, it's not true that remanufactured or generic ink and toner cartridges can void your printer warranty. American federal law actually prohibits manufacturers from doing this. It doesn't allow companies to require that customers buy their products to maintain warranties on items that they've already purchased. Furthermore, remanufactured toner will not harm your printer in any way.

Recycling

Remanufactured products are more likely to contain recycled materials than OEM supplies. This protects the environment and reduces the risk that manufacturers will exhaust finite resources. Various retailers and organizations often reward people who drop off used ink and toner cartridges for recycling. For example, they might give customers free paper or discounts on future purchases.

Quality

If you choose a reputable supplier, remanufactured toners and inks will perform as well as their OEM counterparts. My Choice Ink is an established company that uses precision manufacturing techniques and maintains a high level of quality control.
